Chest Campaign Climbs To $41,213 Peak At Kick-off

Inspired Effort Is Effective

THE COMMUNITY Chest campaign climbed to a spirited, enthusiastic peak last night with reports that the Chest drive has now reached $41,213—slightly more than 46 percent of its total goal.

Occasion for the announcement was the 1955-56 Chest campaign kickoff dinner, this year given in honor of G. P. O'Neill, late owner of the Penn Stroud Hotel which donated the dinner.

It was termed by one observer an "inspired and wonderful" meeting. There were several reasons for the observation. Among them: Last night's crowd was the "largest in Community Chest history."

A rousing, inspirational, down-to-earth address by main speaker Dr. Peter K. Emmons, in which Emmons told workers "the unity of spirit present here in this room is the best single answer we have to communism in the modern world."

A Prayer Is Proposed

Dr. Emmons highlighted his talk by proposing—and reciting—a prayer which he said should become a guiding part of the present Chest campaign. The prayer, he said, originated in wartime England. It is reprinted in a prominent place at the bottom of this page.

"The spirit of this community is America at its best," Dr. Emmons said. "The best answer to communism is what's being done right here in this room. It's got A-bombs beat 40 ways."

Dr. Emmons, a Presbyterian minister, told the workers: "We Protestants have almost lost the word charity from our vocabulary. We had gotten to think of charity as an 'organized handout.' That's not charity. It isn't what Jesus meant. 'Charity is love in action. Charity is the inner soul of redeemed humanity expressing itself on the level of human need.'"

"In the united community—and in the Chest—we see the principles and doctrines of religion at work," the speaker said. This is the basis for a world organization, when, without any personal motives, "We come together for the welfare of the whole," he continued.

Majestic Selflessness

"When the community is united for human welfare, this is democracy in the highest sense of the word," Dr. Emmons said. "I can't conceive of anything on the human level that is more majestic than that."

"You (workers) must not go out (to solicit for donations) in any apologetic mood. There are literally millions of people who would give their right hands to be able to do what you are going to be doing in the next few days."

"You're not going out as mere collectors. You are going out as evangelists with good news that this community is united in the cause of every last child, of the least aged person in all areas of the country."

Danger: Hard Road Ahead

Enthusiasm and optimism were apparent in the comments of Elton Hall, Chest president and Clifford Gillam, campaign coordinator. Both men warned again, however, that early parts of the campaign may have been easy and that the rest of the solicitation would represent days of "hard work" and door-to-door calls on the part of workers.

Workers who crowded the hotel ballroom for the meeting applauded loudly as division captains were introduced to make their reports.

Gillam himself reported for William Nixon, special gifts head, who was unable to attend the meeting. The coordinator said that so far $29,663 had been "reported in" from committees working in special gifts. This division has already contacted and gotten results from 95 percent of its cards, he said.

Special gifts was the first division to be put to work in the current drive. Included in the special gifts total, Gillam said, is $2,200 from the Barrett Welfare Fund in payment made directly to the Chest.

Gillam then began introducing the heads of the various divisions. Each introduction was followed by a brief report on progress so far.

Republicans Accuse Union Labor Leaders With Using Political Violence For '56

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Republicans were circulating today a report accusing union labor leaders of using "violence and coercion" in a "conspiracy of national proportions" aimed at controlling 1956 election results.

The report, prepared by Chairman Goldwater (Ariz.) of the Republican Senatorial Committee, said organized labor leaders are preparing for "massive use of political slush funds—on a nationwide scale."

Use of Violence

It said "the use of violence and coercion by union leaders has now been transferred from the area of industrial disputes and brought boldly into purely political areas."

The report charged that there have been "increasingly ruthless and successful efforts of certain elements in the leadership of the labor unions to take over and control the Democratic party."

It concluded that "if this conspiracy is permitted to develop unhindered and without a fight, the Republican party shall deserve the oblivion it will surely get."

The report first was made secretly by Goldwater to Republican state chairmen in a recent campaign school.

It got a mixed reception there.

Aftershocks Of Quake Give San Francisco Some Damage

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24 (AP)—The strongest earthquake in the San Francisco Bay area in several years gave the region a few aftershocks today and left a scattering of minor damage.

Masonry cracks showed up in several buildings. Many plate glass windows were broken. Stocks on grocery store shelves were shaken into jumbled piles.

Byrd Still Against Cut In Taxes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) today held to his stand against tax cuts in the immediate future, despite the statement of his associate Sen. George (D-Ga.) in favor of reductions.

The Virginian told the American Institute of Accountants he believed increasing federal revenues would mean a balanced budget soon, but declared:

"This does not mean there will be a surplus sufficient for tax reduction."

He went on to say "It would be unsafe to make a permanent tax reduction based on present boom conditions. We will always have peaks and valleys in our business conditions."

Byrd is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which handles tax bills. His predecessor was George, who remains a top ranking member of the group.

George told newsmen Saturday he would support a personal income tax cut next year, and believed it should come ahead of payments on the federal debt.

On this point Byrd said "I am old fashioned enough to believe that we should begin to pay off our debt as we always have done in the past."

The government now, he said, should wipe out all spending of economic aid to other nations, reduce its civilian payroll, cut down on farm subsidies, and stop making such large grants to states on various aid programs.

Newspapers Suggest Church Of England Bow Out Of Margaret-Peter Marriage Proposal

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend met again at tea time and went partying tonight amid reports at least one Commonwealth country—South Africa—opposes a marriage of the two.

The romance of the princess, 25, and the divorced commoner, 40, also sparked a sharp discussion here on church-state ties. Two London newspapers suggested the Church of England should bow out of its centuries-old alliance with the state if it cannot swallow its opposition to the match.

Looked Happy

Smiling happily and looking without a care, the princess returned to her London home earlier from a quiet weekend at Windsor with her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Age Included, With Creed, Color, Race

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24 (AP)—The General Assembly, after years of controversy, passed tonight a bill barring discrimination in employment because of race, color, or creed.

A segment of Republican lawmakers, long opposed to the principle of fair employment practices, agreed to the measure because of the insertion of a so-called age clause.

Age No Bar

It provides, in effect, that an employer couldn't refuse to hire a person because he is too old if the person is between 45 and 62.

The bill, previously passed by the House, went to Gov. Leader.

The recorded Senate vote was 44-5. However, only about 20 senators were in their seats, with the Senate operating on a "consent calendar." Under that procedure the votes of absent senators were cast by agreement.

Five Republicans voted against the bill. They were Sens. Berger, Potter, Kessler, Lancaster, Madison, Bradford, Peeler, Indiana, and Probert, Montgomery.

Both House and Senate adjourned until Monday, Nov. 14, after brief joint sessions, with a score of senators present and slightly more in the House. Under the "token session" procedure only non-controversial legislation is considered.

Meanwhile, the Senate took an hour to debate the tax snarl with Republicans and Democrats blaming each other for the delay.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Senate president pro tempore, and U.S. Sen. Duff were using the sales tax as "a political booby trap to wreck the whole financial structure of our government."

"If Sen. Taylor is so positive the people want a sales tax—when they (Please Turn To Page Two)

Benson Buys Pork, Lard For Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced today the government expects to buy approximately 85 million dollars worth of pork and lard in an effort to encourage consumption and assist farmers in adjusting their production to market demands.

He said the purchase program will go into effect "as soon as practicable" and probably would involve the buying of about 170 million pounds of pork and 30 million pounds of lard to a total expenditure of approximately 85 million dollars.

The pork and lard, Benson told a news conference, will be acquired for current consumption through the school lunch program, charitable institutions and by needy persons. He stressed that no more would be bought than could be disposed of through these outlets and that it would not be bought for government storage.

Some farm and congressional leaders have been insisting the government begin a pork buying program to help the hog market. Hog prices are now about 30 percent lower than a year ago.

OPTIMISM AND DETERMINATION: These two qualities dominated last night's 1955-56 Community Chest dinner at the Penn Stroud. The optimism was for reports up to now; the determination for a "hard job" still to be done. At the head table were: Rev. Harold Eaton; Elton Hall, Chest president; Clifford Gillam, campaign coordinator; Dr. Peter K. Emmons, main speaker and Jesse R. S. Flory, speaker on the workers' part in the drive. Pro-German Caretaker To Run Saar

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar, Oct. 24 (AP)—Victorious German parties in the Saar tonight called on the Western European Union to supervise a new governmental election in this little border territory to replace Premier Johannes Hoffmann.

West German Vice Chancellor Franz Blucher—describing the Saarlanders' plebiscite against Europeanization as "a victory of reason"—led the Bonn Cabinet in proposing new French-German negotiations on the fate of the long-disputed border coal basin.

France Sits Tight

France sat tight, its 10-year economic control of the Saar obviously threatened by the upsurge of German national feeling, but there were indications from Paris that some kind of calm compromise would be sought.

Premier Edgar Faure and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer exchanged telegrams, expressing their conviction that German-French relations must not be upset by the results of the Saar election.

In other capitals of Europe, tied to both France and West Germany by the NATO alliance, anxiety and suspicion were manifest over the Saar's home - to - the - fatherland trend. Inevitably, it conjured up memories of the plebiscite for union with Nazi Germany 20 years ago.

Repudiated by the voters in his campaign to make this the first Europeanized state, Hoffmann prepared to turn over his office to a caretaker premier. He resigned early today after Saarlanders voted 67.7 per cent against Europeanizing the territory.

A caretaker premier's chief responsibility would be to maintain public order and keep machinery of administration moving. He would be able to do nothing about legislation.

Suggest Railroad

Pro-Germans suggested 67-year-old Heinrich Welsch, chairman of the executive board of the Saar railroads, for the job.

Welsch said he has no political ambitions but that he will serve "if the interest of the Saar demands it."

In Friedrichsthal, 120 coal miners demanded and won the resignation of their mayor, a member of Hoffmann's Christian People's party. But elsewhere in the Saar people went quietly back to work after weeks of hectic politics.

American Stars To Play Before England's Royalty

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Six American entertainers are included in the list of stage stars who will perform before Queen Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, at the royal command variety show Nov. 7.

They are singer Lena Horne, George Jessel, magician Channing Pollock, singer Johnnie Ray, and Alfred Drake and Doretha Morrow with the company of the musical, "Kismet," in which they play the leading roles.

Syrian Press Warns Israel; Israeli Claims Border Fire

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 24 (AP)—Syrian newspapers warned today that recent border clashes with Israel forces may precipitate war in the Middle East and draw the West into a "general conflagration."

Nationalist and independent newspapers said the Saturday night border incident in which three Syrian soldiers were killed and five captured calls for decisive action by Britain and the United States against Israel.

Claim Shooting

In Jerusalem, an Israeli army spokesman said Syrian forces opened fire today on the Israeli settlement of the En Gev on the Sea of Galilee. He said there were as the U. N. truce chief for Palestine was flying to U. N. headquarters in New York to report tomorrow on spreading clashes along Israel's Arab borders. Israel has charged Syria with repeated border violations.)

Syrian Premier Said Ghazal returned from Saudi Arabia and promised an official report on his conferences with King Saud. His statement was taken as an indication King Saud has agreed to a bilateral pact with Syria on the pattern of the recent Syrian-Egyptian defense pact.

Truce Supervisor Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns said before departing for New York that investigation showed the Saturday night incident was a "well-planned" retaliatory raid in which at least two groups of 20 to 30 armed Israelis took part.

Say Three Killed

Syrian sources reported one of their lieutenants and two privates were killed and six privates wounded. Israel previously announced the capture of another lieutenant, a sergeant and three privates.

Burns reported blood traces leading to the Israeli border and equipment and ammunition with Israeli markings. He said it was a tragic illustration of the "policy of retaliation" the United Nations has condemned.

The Israeli announcement said the raid followed two weeks of organized Syrian attacks climaxed by the kidnapping of an Israeli soldier. It also complained that four Israeli soldiers captured by the Syrians 10 months ago were still held prisoner.

Machines Have Not Hurt Labor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell came up with data today showing, he said, that productivity of American industry has not increased materially despite the trend toward labor-saving machines.

The data suggested that machines have had no appreciable overall effect of displacing workers from jobs.

Free Nazi

LANDSBERG, Germany, Oct. 24 (AP)—The United States has freed S. S. Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich, tough ex-farmhand whose Nazi Elite Guard troops killed 142 unarmed American prisoners in the 1944 Malmédy massacre.

Most of the 140 equipped planes—those which have not crashed—have been relegated to the equivalent of the Navy's junk yard. Along with them have gone 174 Westinghouse jet engines which will be put to the unglamorous use of training crews and ground research.

A Community Chest Prayer

INCREASE O, Lord, the spirit of neighborliness among us, that in peril we may uphold one another; in calamity, serve one another; in suffering, tend one another and in homelessness, loneliness, or exile, befriend one another.

Grant us brave and enduring hearts—that we may strengthen one another till the disciplines and testing of these days be ended and thou dost give again peace in our time.

Soviet Union To Receive Tension Easer

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Western Big Three hammered out details today of a joint program to ease world tension. They will submit it to the Soviet Union later this week at Geneva.

A joint communique issued after two meetings said in part: "The ministers, after having taken note of the work of their experts, have defined in general lines joint positions which they hope to adopt at Geneva and on which they expect to exchange views tomorrow with their NATO colleagues."

As they did so, Lord Ismay, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, made a brief appraisal of Russia's "diplomacy of smiles," and told the West to remember that "a bear can kill with a hug."

Confer on Text

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister, Antoine Pinay conferred twice during the day on the text of a three-power memorandum which they will present to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov when the Big Four power conference opens Thursday.

Midway in their afternoon session in the French Foreign Ministry, the three ministers were joined by West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano, here to represent the government most immediately concerned in any move on German unification.

The Dulles-Macmillan-Pinay memorandum embraces Western proposals on this issue, plus ideas on a European security system, disarmament and improvement of East-West relations. The three ministers and Von Brentano will report on their discussions to a meeting of NATO foreign ministers tomorrow.

Inform NATO

Ismay, speaking to a news conference, said NATO's permanent council will be kept informed of the progress of the Geneva conference on a weekly basis through reports from the American, British and French permanent delegates here.

One issue—Soviet penetration into the Middle East with arms sales to Egypt—was put off for a new three-power session tomorrow. In the interim, Dulles planned to confer with Henry Byrd, American envoy to Cairo, and with Israel's Prime Minister, Moshe Sharett.

Sharett arrived here last night to warn the West the arms deal poses the threat of Arab aggression against Israel. Sharett was also to see Macmillan and Pinay sometime tomorrow or Wednesday morning on the same problem. He intends to raise it with Molotov, too, in Geneva.

Eight Jurors Selected For Murder Trial

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 24 (AP)—Eight jurors were tentatively seated today in the first degree murder trial of Francis Horr, accused of slaying a waitress in a tavern here last May 1.

Court sources said testimony probably will not begin before Wednesday in the trial before Common Pleas Judge John W. Ford.

Police say Horr, formerly of Oswego, N. Y., got into an argument at the tavern, went home and got a rifle and returned to shoot Miss Rosemary Hunter. Horr contends he accidentally dropped the rifle, causing it to fire, while showing how it worked.

After the shooting, Horr fled to Seattle, Wash., where he was later apprehended.

School Mergers Terms Appropriate

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sen. Seyler (D-York) tonight described as "ridiculous" the type of criticism leveled at a plan to create regional school districts.

"These entities would have no more, no less control than now held by local school districts," he told the Senate.

Supreme Court Upsets Movie Censor Ruling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (P)—The Supreme Court dealt movie censors another setback today.

Without a dissenting voice, the court struck down a ruling by the Kansas Supreme Court which upheld the banning of a motion picture, "The Moon Is Blue," as obscene.

The film, widely shown several years ago, is a romantic comedy concerning a young girl's wide-eyed attitude toward sex. She has an innocent adventure with an older man who is an avowed wolf.

Judgment Reversed

In a brief, unsigned order the court said "judgment reversed" and cited a decision by it in 1952. "The 1952 ruling involved 'The Miracle.' The court said then New York could not ban the film on the ground that it is sacrilegious. But the court added it was necessary for it to decide whether a state should censor pictures 'under a clearly drawn statute designed and applied to prevent the showing of obscene films.'"

By citing its ruling in "The Miracle" case, the court indicated that (1) it was not going beyond it in the Kansas case and (2) the Kansas censorship regulations failed to meet the standards laid down in the 1952 decision.

Blood Tests

In another action, the court declined to pass on whether local police may require motorists accused of drunken driving to take blood tests.

With Justices Reed and Douglas dissenting and Chief Justice Warren taking no part, the court said "The record in this case fails to establish that a federal question is presented." The vote was 6-2.

Only a week ago the justices listened to two hours of argument on an appeal brought by Marvin Stuart Walton. Walton contended police at San Jose, Calif., took a sample of his blood over his protests.

Counsel for the State of California denied force was used. The state said Walton, after first refusing to give a blood sample, rolled up his sleeve, stuck out his arm, and said, "Well, take it."

Walton was convicted. His sentence included a 90-day jail term, only five days of which had to be served. The remaining 85 days were suspended.

Refuses Review

The court also refused to review the conviction in New York of 12 Puerto Rican nationalists on charges of seditious conspiracy against the United States. Each received a six-year sentence.

Four of the twelve Puerto Ricans already are serving long prison sentences for shooting up the House of Representatives March 1, 1954. Five lawmakers were wounded. Another is Mrs. Rosa Collazo, wife of Oscar Collazo, who is serving a life sentence for his part in an attempt to assassinate President Truman in 1950.

Make Plans For Christmas

PORTLAND—The Sunday School Board of the Methodist Church met on Sunday afternoon in the church, Dr. John Wildrick, Supt., presided. Plans were made for the Christmas program. Date to be announced.

Mrs. Bert Transue, Miss Ruth Williams, Mrs. John Wildrick Jr. and Mrs. Frank Culver were appointed as a committee to organize the young married couples group. The next meeting was tentatively set for Nov. 28.

Christmas committee appointed were: Platform, chairman, Mrs. Fred Gardner; costume chairman, Mrs. Harry Bellis; program, Mrs. John Ribble, Mrs. Roger Mansfield, Mrs. John Wildrick Jr. and Mrs. Russell Renner.

General Assembly Passes Measure Barring Discrimination In Employment Of People

rejected it by their vote last November—it would be a simple matter for him to arrange with his leadership in the House to propose such legislation and let it carry the label of the Republican party," he said.

Sen. Wade, acting Senate Republican floor leader, replied that Democrats control the House and it is the responsibility of the House to devise taxes.

"That is not the duty of the Republican party at this moment."

Income Tax

Sen. Dent, Democratic floor leader, said Gov. Leader offered the $11 million dollar classified income tax as his answer to the tax problem.

"We will not be blackjacked into an unfair tax," said Dent in hitting the GOP-proposed sales levy.

In another development, the Senate passed a resolution urging the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington to act quickly on a proposal to require trucks to be equipped with an extra set of brakes.

Three recent truck accidents prompted the resolution. The ICC is studying a proposal by truck manufacturers for installation of a special type of brake system.

As the FEPC measure passed the Legislature, the governor's office prepared a close study of its implications. Leader, however, has indicated he would sign the measure despite the age provision.

The FEPC bill finally cleared both branches of the Assembly in the form of a conference report worked out by a joint committee of the House and Senate. The House adopted the conference report two weeks ago.

In Both Platforms

Both Republican and Democratic platforms have for years favored FEPC legislation, which usually passed the House but was buried in a Senate committee. Both former Gov.'s Duff and Fine urged the Senate to pass FEPC legislation without success.

The administration measure, backed by Gov. Leader this year, would set up a commission to investigate discrimination because of race, color, or creed. The Republican Senate inserted the age amendment, which the Democratic House finally accepted. Both Leader and Democrats said the age question should be handled in separate legislation.

The bill would create a bipartisan commission of nine members within the Department of Labor and Industry to enforce it. Not more than five members could be from the same political party.

The measure would become effective 30 days after enactment, except that the age clause would not be effective before July 1, 1956.

12 or More Workers

Employers with 12 or more workers would be prohibited from refusing to hire, or with discharging a worker, or otherwise discriminating against him in pay or tenure because of race, color, religion, ancestry, age, or national origin.

Labor organizations would be barred from using forms for applications for jobs containing questions on those points.

The commission would have the right to initiate, receive, investigate and pass upon complaints charging unlawful employment practices. In addition it would have authority to create advisory agencies and conciliation councils and to prepare a comprehensive educational program for state school children.

The bill, if it becomes law, would work this way:

Any person claiming to be aggrieved by an unlawful employment practice would file a complaint with the commission within 90 days of the act.

Commission Investigates

The commission would investigate. It could dismiss the complaint, or if it finds sufficient cause, could try to eliminate the unlawful practice.

If the commission fails to eliminate the practice it would serve notice upon the employer and conduct a hearing. After the hearing the commission could order the employer to cease and desist from unlawful practice, or dismiss the complaint.

The bill carries a penalty of $100 to $500 fine or imprisonment up to 30 days, or both.

Saarlanders Demonstrate They Do Not Want To Yield Their Fate To West European Union

By J. M. Roberts

Associated Press News Analyst

SAARLANDERS HAVE demonstrated overwhelmingly that they had rather remain under French hegemony for a while longer than to accept permanent separation from Germany under a vague "Europeanized" status.

In a welter of conflicting emotions they voted down the statute proposed by France and West Germany. Under it an internally autonomous Saar would have yielded its external affairs to control by the Western European Union and started a gradual resumption of normal economic relations with Germany — but with France always actually in control of the economy.

It was a complicated choice they had to make. They made it along traditional cultural and nationalistic lines, and thereby they struck several blows at European unity.

They slapped the French hard, and their pro-French premier resigned in the face of rapidly mounting demands that the Saar begin immediately its fight for return to Germany.

They encouraged close-to-Nazi organizations which once more have found a basis for affinity between themselves and the human ties of the fatherland and mother tongue traditions.

They cut off at birth the first attempt to give Western European Union the aspects of political as well as military cooperation, since guardianship of the Saar was to have been its first political responsibility.

This is a setback to the movement, revived only last June at Messina, Italy, looking toward eventual European political union through extension of the international coal and steel pool idea, establishment of Europe as a single market, international wage and labor standards, joint atomic developments, unified power systems, and such things as the now-dead Saar statute.

New negotiations between France and Germany now appear almost inevitable, accompanied by a revival of mistrust which had been only partly allayed by the recent treaties, which themselves were based on the theory that the Saar question had been compromised. And this time Germany's pro-union Chancellor Adenauer will be under extreme pressure to accept the demand of the Saarlanders themselves and fight for their return to Germany.

Whether he will do so — he probably won't — a strong foundation has now been laid for a movement toward that end; a movement which promises to revive all bitterness of past years and to handicap Western Europe when it needs unity in the new-type conflict with Russia.

TONIGHT at 7:30 a meeting of all members of the steering committee and the chairmen of all committees as well as visitors will be held in the Church School of St. John's Lutheran Church. At this time instruction will be given to the committees and visitors and assignments made for the visitation in the interest of Evangelism.

St. John's, along with one hundred congregations of the Allentown Conference, will have several thousand persons at work in this program. It will include visitation of all members, visitation to unchurched in the communities and a series of services, beginning on Sunday, Nov. 6.

H. L. Keiper, chairman of the St. John's committee, announces that the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Brobst, chairman of the United Lutheran Church, will be the missionary in charge of the services at St. John's. Mr. Keiper said it is vitally important that all committeemen and visitors be in attendance at the meeting tonight.

Plans call for a meeting that will not last more than one hour. It will begin promptly. The persons who have accepted the call for this service will be commissioned at the service next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Small Game Season Opens On Standard Time

THE PENNSYLVANIA Game Commission has announced that the legal opening hour for hunting small game will begin at 9:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, on October 29, 1955.

Migratory bird hunting on that date will be delayed until the same hour.

Eastern Standard Time applies regardless of the time which any area of the state may be utilizing.

Flood Effect Eased By PSES Action

SWIFT ACTION: on orders of Gov. George Leader and other State officials was credited this week with quickly alleviating the effects of unemployment which followed on the heels of Hurricane Diane in Monroe County.

During the week after the Aug. 18-19 flood, local Pennsylvania State Employment Service officials estimated that nearly 8,500 workers were idled. The PSES office was notified by Gov. Leader and other State officials that immediate efforts should be made to "mobilize the full resources and facilities of the Bureau to assist in meeting the emergency in any way possible."

According to John P. Dougherty, manager of the East Stroudsburg PSES office, "trained personnel were brought in from other sections of the State." An emergency unemployment insurance office was set up in the District Office in Stroudsburg to insure speedy personal courier service, Dougherty said.

Check Delivery

Delivery of unemployment compensation checks was speeded up, he said. Swift action by State legislators amended the Unemployment Insurance Law to eliminate for flood victims the customary required one week waiting period and to eliminate any charge against a liable employer's reserve account for benefits paid to flood victims, Dougherty said.

"By Sept. 1 the hectic nightmarish emergency began to alleviate," Dougherty said. "Flooded plants were using their regular personnel in salvage and reconstruction work. The number of claimants applying for unemployment insurance began to taper off."

Dougherty's comments were contained in the "labor market letter" issued once each month by the local office.

Community Chest Offers Opportunity For All Of Us To Help—We Cannot Fail

As hundreds of workers move out to cover the Pocono Mountains region in an historic Community Chest appeal today, there is manifold evidence of the determination of so many citizens to share their good fortune with those who are far less fortunate.

Throughout the Pocono's region, the preliminaries of the current campaign have demonstrated an increasing understanding and acceptance of the Chest's 12-agency budget and the need for a $20,000 fund to meet new demands certain to follow as after-effects of the Aug. 18-19 flood.

Workers who will be making their house-to-house calls will be contacting men and women of a wide variety of incomes, but we are confident no matter what the income bracket full appreciation of need for this year's appeal will be displayed.

So many people are already aware that while they themselves may not be in the highest income brackets they realize that there are many more who are far less fortunate, and that their gifts and pledges of financial support will be forthcoming as a measure of their sympathetic understanding.

It is an obvious truth that no matter what individual worries and troubles of all kinds there may be, there are always others with far more serious difficulties; in many cases insurmountable were it not for the big Chest organization devoted to welfare.

The hearts of the people in this county cannot fail to be touched by the appeal of those many whose lives will be made far happier because of the full support given the Community Chest fund.

The opportunity to help is being offered to all of us. We cannot fail.

Law To Protect Secrecy Of Juries Made Necessary By Chicago "Behaviorists"

Senators Jenner and Eastland, who initiated the Senate hearings on the Wichita jury listeners, now say they will sponsor a bill at the next session of Congress to outlaw such intrusions on jury deliberation.

No such law should be necessary. The secrecy of jury deliberations has been so well established that no lawyer and no judge ever should have had to think twice before forbidding such shenanigans as the University of Chicago "behaviorists" so slyly inflicted on a half-dozen Wichita juries.

Dean Edward H. Levi of the Chicago Law School, which has $1,400,000 from the fancy-spending Ford Foundation to study the jury system and related subjects, claims his researchers simply were trying to "improve" the jury system.

One Of Principal Arguments Of Campaign Will Be Who Was Most Soft To Russians

One of the principal arguments in the 1956 campaign is going to be over who was most soft on Russia during the war years and who first discovered that the Russians are beasts not human beings.

This can become a ferocious battle and more lies will be manufactured than is believable among intelligent men.

Granted that the smartest policy would have been for the United States to stay out of World War II and for us to have pursued the Machiavellian policy of letting Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany murder each other to the death, those who from 1938 to 1941 advised such ideas, or similar inept ones, were regarded as quackish fascists, black anti-Democrats, anti-Roosevelts, and generally indecent. And they were attacked as anti-Semites which had nothing to do with the subject. Herbert Hoover led such forces, and I was among them in this column; but we all had to accept the revelation of our neighbors for whom the murderous, profane Stalin had suddenly become a saint. Only Roosevelt could distinguish between a good and a bad dictator by some private clairvoyance which was his alone and did not, in historic time, prove.

Now along comes the Department of Defense and tries, by historic legend, to show that General MacArthur wanted the Russians in the Pacific war. What their documentation shows is that after General George Marshall and the politicians of the State Department and the Pentagon made their deal, MacArthur said send the Russians along. The documentation requires full reading and a check against all other published and unpublished material to discover who is lying and why. Great names should not deter us from seeking ignoble motives; there are as many such among the great as among the little people.

Adverell Harriman will undoubtedly show that he understood the Russians better than most in the days when it mattered. Unfortunately for the record, while he disclosed his knowledge and convictions to the President, he did not take the public into his confidence nor did he denounce Harry Hopkins and George Marshall who were the authors of our trials and tribulations and whose errors of judgment and whose errors of judgment can still cast us another war in which we may be destroyed.

Nevertheless, the record will show, and undoubtedly if the time comes, Harriman will produce it, that his judgment was more correct than that of most others associated with Roosevelt and that what he reported between 1943 and 1945, had it been pursued, might have saved this country and President Eisenhower the recent humiliation of Geneva where we were fooled by a smile.

On the subject of Communists, none of the Democrats have as good a record as Vice President Nixon or Senator Knowland. Nixon grabbed Alger Hiss by the heel at a time when President Truman thought that Hiss was a red herring. If this is still a good campaign point, Nixon has it. This much we may take for granted: Hiss will be in this campaign as will be Maclean and Burgess, the Britishers who were Russian agents and were beloved of the State Department and other government agencies.

On this subject, Joe McCarthy will emerge in the campaign. Already, he plans to run in the primaries in several states for the Presidential nomination, and will come into the Republican Convention not only as a delegate but as a candidate, whose voice will not be stifled by the ingenuitism, no matter who is in control. This development was inevitable when it became more certain that President Eisenhower is not likely to be a candidate. Each smart delegation will therefore come in with a favorite son for bargaining advantage, and one of the favorite sons will be Joe McCarthy and he will ask about the current Republican Administration's softness on the subject of Russia and American Communists. So will Bill Knowland of California who will also be a candidate.

Vice President Nixon will be embarrassed by all this because he cannot do anything or say anything that might be critical of Eisenhower or the Eisenhower Administration, whereas Harriman, McCarthy and Knowland have no such obligations. They will pound away on this subject with their full strength and the times will serve them, for it is now as clear as crystal that Geneva was a flop and the Geneva smile the frippery of a wanton.

Heart Scientists Seek Normal Thinking Hormone

Scientists at the National Heart Institute are bird-dogging what they think may be a "normal thinking" hormone.

Not really a hormone, either—sort of a semi-hormone called serotonin, which is found in minute quantities in the body tissues, particularly in the brain.

They aren't sure yet what serotonin does. If anything, but they have a sneaking suspicion that under favorable chemical conditions it keeps the brain operating on the beam. The implication is that if they could find out just how much of what to add to a body's chemical mixture they could get the serotonin to perk at optimum efficiency and have everybody doing "normal thinking" in short order.

While we are waiting for them to work out the details with their test tubes and delicate laboratory instruments maybe the rest of us could improve our shining hours by pondering a bit over just what "normal thinking" is. And how the scientists can tell when it is being done.

This may turn out to be quite a research problem in itself. Just at first glance it seems fairly obvious that what would be normal thinking for, say, Rocky Marciano might be a trifle off par for Dr. Vannevar Bush.

I could get more excited about serotonin if I thought it might be used to put us all in the Bush league than if it held out to us only the hope of matching the intellectual prowess of a heavyweight fistcuffer. (Meaning no disrespect to Marciano, of course. He is a good man in his line.)

It occurs to me that determining what constitutes normal thinking is just another angle (and maybe a more difficult angle) of that old problem of determining who's crazy and who isn't. It depends a lot on who's laying down the ground rules.

Thinking that is normal enough to suit me could be alarmingly deficient in some respect to the Heart Institute scientists.

About the only way a generally acceptable standard could be arrived at would be by statistical methods. You could find out how every American thinks, mix all the findings together and divide by 165,000,000—and that could be called "normal thinking" for Americans.

But if I were a scientist I wouldn't waste much time looking for a chemical method of producing any more of that. Not that we aren't getting along all right with that kind of thinking but I just wonder sometimes whether that isn't in spite of it rather than because of it.

What this country really needs is some way of souping up the serotonin so it will turn out more of the abnormal kind of thinking that keeps the statistical average from sagging.

If the Institute people cherish no private hope of stumbling onto a combination of chemicals that will do this maybe they'd be wiser just to let well enough alone.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

The late Joe Palmer told about a newly elected Senator from Tennessee who was making his way through Kentucky at a time when horseback was the only mode of travel in those parts. He tarried for the night at a stately plantation near Harrodsburg where he was offered some delicious homemade bourbon, served neat in a water glass.

The Tennesseean inquired tactfully if his host was acquainted with a delicious concoction called a julep, and learning with surprise that it was unknown in that part of Kentucky, dispatched funkys forthwith to pick some mint from the banks of a neighboring stream. He thereupon made some of the darndest juleps in history.

This was in April. The senator came back that way again in October, but the master of the house failed to put in an appearance.

"No, sir, he ain't here no mo'," reported the head servant mournfully. "He took to bed right after you taught him to put grass in his bourbon, and just plain juleped himself to glory."

Five Of 11 ICC Members Expected To Be Removed

Washington, Oct. 25—The Interstate Commerce Commission, one of the oldest federal regulatory agencies and largest is headed for a massive shake-up.

Five of the 11 commissioners will be out by Jan. 1. All are holdovers from the Truman Administration.

Hugh W. Cross, R., Illinois, chairman.

Martin K. Elliott, R., Indiana. J. Monroe Johnson, D., South Carolina.

J. Haden Aldredge, D., Alabama. Richard F. Mitchell, D., Iowa.

Mitchell is considering an offer from an Eastern railroad.

Another of the group is under scrutiny by the Senate Government Operations Committee. Beyond confirming that, the investigators refuse to say anything about this hush-hush proceeding.

The Administration has been seeking to reorganize the ICC for some time. Last year an attempt was made to oust Truman appointees. But it got nowhere when Commissioner Johnson flatly refused to quit, and threatened a court battle. His term runs out in December.

Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks has been in the forefront of this drive, working closely with White House secretary Sherman Adams.

Weeks headed a cabinet committee set up by President Eisenhower to formulate new transportation policies. The group proposed a number of far-reaching changes; among them repeal of transportation excise taxes, tolls on inland waterways improved by the government, and curtailment of rate-making and other regulatory powers of the ICC.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey and several other cabinet members sharply challenged this report, and its publication was delayed for months. When finally sent to Congress for legislative action, it immediately ran into strong opposition there. The issue is still hanging fire in committee.

Note: The ICC was originally created by Congress in 1887, as an independent agency with three members. Since then, its authority and size have been expanded a number of times. The last was during the Truman regime, when Congress gave the ICC jurisdiction over the inland and coastal shipping industries.

On the griddle—Japan is making two spectacular proposals to the U. S.:

An increase in its immigration quota, now fixed at 185 annually.

Huge timber cutting rights in Alaska.

The immigration request is being studied by the State Department for possible recommendations to the coming session of Congress. Legislation will have to be enacted to increase the existing quota.

The yearly admittance rate of 185 immigrants was originally set in an executive order by President Truman in June 1952. This figure was made permanent by the McCarran Act, passed in December of that year. That law also wiped out the ban on naturalization of Japanese.

The Tokyo government has mentioned no figures in its overtures for a larger quota.

No law bars Japanese bidding to cut Alaska timber.

However, all bidders are required to prove satisfactory financial responsibility. The Japanese concern which applied for timber rights has been advised that it, and all other firms, have until January 11, 1956, to submit financial statements.

If they meet requirements, the companies can bid on more than five billion board feet of lumber.

The Japanese have been advised to "obtain the participation of U. S. interests."

This was disclosed by Clarence Blau, assistant director of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, in a discussion with American businessmen who inquired about the matter. They questioned him particularly about a report that the Japanese may be financed by the Export-Import Bank or through the foreign aid program. Blau firmly refuted that.

"At no time has there been any suggestion from anyone that the Export-Import Bank or any government agency put up any money for this project," he declared.

W. S. Swingle, Forest Service official, reported the Japanese company first applied to his agency for right to cut timber in Alaska. The Forest Service is part of the Agriculture Department, which has put the matter up to the State and Commerce Departments for decision.

Late Gerald P. O'Neill Eulogized By Chest Drive Leaders

Memorial Dinner In His Honor

AN ESTIMATED 250 Community Chest workers paid tribute to the memory of Gerald O'Neill last night at the 1955-56 campaign kickoff dinner.

O'Neill always active in the Chest's annual drives—was eulogized by two main speakers. The first of the speakers was Clifford Gilliam, coordinator of the current campaign.

The second and last speaker on the program—was Rev. Harold G. Durkin, St. Matthew's Catholic Church priest and O'Neill's pastor in life. Last night's dinner was given by O'Neill's widow, Mrs. Regina O'Neill, and the Penn-Stroud Hotel, of which he was manager, as part of the organization contribution to the 1955-56 drive.

Father Durkin paid tribute to O'Neill's "courage, service, leadership, kindness and humor." He called the late hotel owner "a man of great faith who led the life of a good Catholic layman . . . and who gave freely of his talents to his church and his community."

"The Optimistic View"

"Gerry always took the optimistic view of even the gravest problems," Father Durkin said. "And in the end, he generally had the satisfaction of knowing he had been right. No one knows except God the extent of his many acts of kindness."

"He was a genius in leadership . . . and leadership is a form of genius," he said. "He lifted people out of themselves. Leaders are people who get things done, and Gerry was one of those leaders."

In introducing Father Durkin, Gilliam called attention to O'Neill's many services in past Chest campaigns and of his constant services wherever community need was felt.

O'Neill's impact on the community "in just nine short years, was immense," Gilliam said. Other speakers during the course of the program paid passing tribute to O'Neill's memory and to Mrs. O'Neill and the hotel for making this year's dinner possible.

"You Are The Chest"

The charge to Chest workers was given by Jesse R. S. Flory, bourgeois of East Stroudsburg and long-time worker in Chest campaigns. Flory began his address by noting that the area had just recently come through the greatest disaster in its history.

The unity displayed by men and women all over the county in the aftermath of that disaster must be carried over to the present Chest drive, Flory said. "Never again will there be any doubt of the spirit of this county," he continued.

But the needs of human beings are never limited to the brief, dramatic landings of emotion brought on by a catastrophe, Flory continued. "There are many such catastrophes happening each day in the lives of families and humans all over the county—not major in nature, but attracting the great publicity and the resultant sympathy, not causing the human death of a disaster such as the flood we have just come through—but each a catastrophe in itself, each changing the life of persons we know."

"You here in this room—and the men and women who give—are the Community Chest," he said.

"We Take Care Of Needy"

"It is the nature of our community that we take care of those who need help . . . This is the Community Chest," Flory said. "First we have the spirit; second, we have the agencies to take care of the need."

"I have watched these agencies for years (and I can tell you) that they have done and are doing a wonderful job . . . with trained and dedicated people. It is up to you to know and find out about these agencies."

"In the backwash of a disaster the need for agency service becomes greater. This is where our agencies step in. Again, it's a case of the needs of families in our own community. It's up to us to meet the demand and I know we're going to."

"It is wonderful to see both old and new faces in the audience to night, as workers. To all of you I can say, we need you both."

"We are here as workers with the Community Chest. We are charged with the responsibility (of meeting) a dollars and cents goal . . . but the thing that makes (this goal) important . . . is the need which lies behind it."

"Instead of thinking you are asking for a contribution in dollars and cents think: 'This time I'm going to ask for a contribution for some child crying for a home, for someone who is sick, for a soldier who is away from home . . .'"

"Each Of Us Is Judged"

"As you work, so the Community Chest goes. Remember this: that the spirit of the Chest is not on trial here. Each of us is being judged, rather. The worker by the amount of work he puts into the drive; the donor by the amount he gives," Flory concluded.

During the course of the meeting, representatives of the agencies which make up the Chest were introduced by Chest President Elton Hall. Also introduced from the floor were members of the campaign committee staff, including heads of divisions, and Ethel West,

A MEMORIAL FROM THE LIVING to a man who was a guiding spirit in past Community Chest campaigns was the central theme of last night's Community Chest dinner—the Gerald P. O'Neill Memorial Dinner. It was given by the Penn-Stroud Hotel and Mrs. O'Neill. Here Mrs. O'Neill is shown at the dinner table with hotel manager Eric Schuchard.

Missionary To Japan To Deliver Principal Address At Sunday School Asso. Meetings

MISS MABEL Francis, a well-known missionary to Japan, will deliver the opening address at the annual convention of the Monroe County Sunday School Association.

The two-day conference opens tomorrow night at Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. Services will be held both evenings at 7:45 and the annual fellowship supper is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday.

Interned

Miss Francis has spent 26 years on the foreign mission field without a furlough. Having voluntarily remained in Japan during World War II, she was interned and later served as an interpreter for occupational forces.

Even after she came home, in 1945, she remained in America only seven months.

Miss Francis went to Japan in 1909 under the Christian and Missionary Alliance. She engaged in extensive itineration and evangelistic work out of the Matsuyama Station.

Won Converts

She won many converts to Christianity after World War II, as her message found remarkable acceptance among all classes who recognized her as a fellow-sufferer during the war years. She was privileged to speak to officials, police and professional people.

Miss Francis' unusual proficiency in the Japanese language enabled her to serve as interpreter for many prominent American Christian workers who visited Japan after the war. She also assisted C & MA Japanese pastors to open new works and rehabilitate existing programs.

Also slated to speak tomorrow night are Miss Helen Harvey and Miss Barbara Hartman, who will tell of missionary work in Africa and Japan. The Pen Argyl Methodist Church Male Quartet will furnish special music.

Sponsor Delegates

Rev. B. H. Hostetter, pastor of East Stroudsburg Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, will lead tomorrow night's devotional service, at which the Sunday school association's president, Warren Godshall, will preside.

Each church school is requested to sponsor at least two of its members as delegates to the Thursday night dinner, and business meeting. Reservations should be phoned in immediately to Mrs. Harold Lee at 2858.

Knights Of Malta Meet Tonight

THE REGULAR convocation of St. John's Commandery 186, A & IO Knights of Malta will be held at 8 tonight in Malta Temple on Main St.

The planning committee has been working to make the coming winter one of the most active seasons for the Order of Malta in many years.

The annual convention of the Supreme Commandery of America was held in Eastern Oct. 16-19 and PGC Clifford R. Kintner represented St. John's Commandery at those sessions.

Attending the banquet on Tuesday, Oct. 18, were the following local knights: PGC Clifford R. Kintner and wife, PC August E. Miller, PC Fred B. Eyer and wife, and PC William E. Robinson and wife.

Three Deeds Recorded

THREE DEEDS were filed yesterday in the office of Register and Recorder Floyd Butz.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac B. Miller, Coolbaugh Township have transferred land there to Mr. and Mrs. John E. Corbin, Mount Pocono.

Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Howey, Mohawh, N. J., have transferred a lot in Middle Smithfield to Harrison L. Place, Middle Smithfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Decker, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., have transferred a building and two lots in Stroud Township to the East Stroudsburg Savings, Building & Loan Co.

Launch Probe Into School

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP)—A Joint State Legislative Investigating Committee will launch a probe into conditions at the Pennsylvania Training School at Morgantown tomorrow with a first-hand inspection of the Washington County institution for juvenile lawbreakers.

"We hope to make a complete tour of the institution and learn some first-hand facts to guide us in the hearing," Sen. Lane (D-Wash.), said.

executive Chest secretary. Lighter moments were provided by a group of volunteers who appeared in masks and costumes illustrating messages for workers in the current campaign. Music for the dinner was provided by an orchestra.

No charge was—or is—made, in any way, for the dinner to either the Chest or to those attending the meeting. It is the voluntary contribution of the hotel and Mrs. O'Neill. The idea of the "kickoff" dinner was initiated several years ago by the late O'Neill to provide a central meeting point for all workers and officials and to give an added impetus to the campaign in Monroe County.

Minor Power Failure Here During Storm

A WIND AND RAIN storm whipped through much of eastern Pennsylvania late today, causing widespread damage and snarling traffic at the going-home rush hours. And at Meadville, diagonally across the state, snow was reported.

Minor power failures were reported in some parts of Monroe County late yesterday afternoon as winds with gusts up to 50 miles-an-hour lashed the area.

Henry Slaboski, general foreman for Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. here, said an estimated 500 customers were without service for as much as two hours in the Tannersville area.

Slaboski said the disruptions occurred when the main line from Chipperfield Drive to Tannersville was damaged by the heavy winds, along with all of the taps off it.

Meanwhile, minor disruptions were also reported by Theodore Henning, district manager for the Metropolitan Edison Co.

Henning said a pole was broken along Smith St. in East Stroudsburg, three to four customers were without service in Wind Gap, and between 40 to 50 homes were without power in Coolbaugh Township. Repairs were made within an hour.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour tore through parts of Chester County. Rains drenched in a n y areas.

In Chester, the roof of a two-story building was blown onto an automobile, collapsing the car and injuring the driver. Elsewhere in Delaware County trees were blown down, electric wires ripped loose and houses damaged.

Roofs were blown loose in upper Bucks County. In the Radnor-Lower-Merion-Haverford section many homes were without lights and telephone service.

The storm, first described as a cold front, moved in from the west. At Philadelphia's International Airport the mercury dropped from 72 to 60 within an hour. A low temperature of 38 overnight was forecast.

Round about Philadelphia itself the winds blew up to 53 miles an hour. The sudden sweep of the storm blackened the sky in a matter of minutes and lashing rain caught thousands unprepared. Only a short while before the sun had been shining.

Trees blew down on busy highways and streets, necessitating detours.

The storm was heavy, too, in Pottstown and some other areas of Montgomery County. At 3:30 p.m., the temperature in Pottstown was a sunny 79. A half hour later it had fallen to 52. Winds raged up to 62 miles an hour.

Telephone service was interrupted for a while in 43 Pottstown homes. Power lines were damaged. Some families lacked electricity temporarily. At least one tree was flattened.

Little damage was reported in the Harrisburg area as a result of the storm which struck the city at 2:21 p.m. with winds as high as 54 m.p.h.

Twenty-five Experts Start Flood Survey Work In This Region Before Winter Hits

A PHILADELPHIA engineering firm yesterday began surveying the extensive damage caused in the Stroudsburg area by the Aug. 18 flood.

Twenty-five men from Albright & Friel, engineering consultants, will make recommendations for future flood control projects in this area to the U. S. Army Engineers.

"We want to survey damage in Stroudsburg and in the Poconos before the first snowfall of the season," a company spokesman explained yesterday. "Then we will move downstate and check conditions at Westport and other places less seriously affected."

Weather A Factor

Commenting that it is now impossible to predict when the job here will be completed, the spokesman added: "A lot depends on the weather."

"We have to hurry before snow begins falling in the mountains," he stressed.

Seven survey teams have been sent out by the Army Engineers to obtain detailed estimates of flood damage from local businessmen, residents, officials, industries and utilities.

Bomb Threat Against Judge

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24 (AP)—A telephone bomb threat was received tonight by a judge who earlier issued an injunction in the strike of the CIO-International Union of Electrical Workers against Westinghouse Electric Corp.

A caller told the city police switchboard and Judge Henry X. O'Brien's housekeeper that his home would be bombed tonight. Detectives and deputy sheriffs were immediately sent to the home.

temporarily. At least one tree was flattened.

Little damage was reported in the Harrisburg area as a result of the storm which struck the city at 2:21 p.m. with winds as high as 54 m.p.h.

Fined For Passing School Bus

ARTHUR E. DANA, Buck Hill Falls, paid a fine of $20 plus costs Saturday after entering a plea of guilty to passing a school bus of the Stroud Union School district which had stopped on the highway to discharge school children.

The complaint was lodged by William D. Johnson, driver of the bus, before Justice of the Peace Ruth E. Miller of Stroud Township.

During the course of the proceedings, the magistrate made it clear that motorists must stop for school buses, halted to discharge pupils on the highway, whether approaching the bus from the front or the rear.

Transport Arrives

SEATTLE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Arrival time for the Navy transport Gen. M. M. Patrick from the Far East was moved up today from Thursday to Wednesday. It is bringing 1,406 passengers.

Mary Serfass Saylorsburg Resident Dies

MRS. MARY Serfass, Saylorsburg, died at 11 a.m. Monday in Guadon Huettner Hospital, Lehigh.

The daughter of the late Samuel and Cecelia (Kibler) Newhart, she was born in Saylorsburg and spent most of her married life in Bangor.

She was a member of the Brick Church, Saylorsburg, the auxiliaries of both the Enlym H. Evans Post 378, American Legion, Bangor, and the Blue Ridge Fire Company, Saylorsburg. She also was a member of the Progressive Women's Club, Saylorsburg, and the PO of A.

She is survived by her husband, Eli; a son, Harold, Easton; four daughters, Mrs. Mildred Fritz, Saylorsburg; Mrs. William Lynch, Riverside, N. J.; Mrs. Carl Mesinger, Easton; a brother, S. Clarence Newhart, Bethlehem; six sisters, Mrs. Emma Buskirk, Wind Gap; Mrs. Anna Serfass, Mrs. Helen Boyer, Mrs. Dorothy Budge, Mrs. Frank Shick and Mrs. Floyd Correll, all of Saylorsburg.

She also is survived by 13 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Edgar Hamm Funeral Home, Brodheads-ville with Revs. Harold L. Ulmer and Adan Bohner officiating. Burial will be in the Brick Church Cemetery, Saylorsburg.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Exempt Safety Devices Weight

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24 (AP)—A new bill introduced in the House today would exempt safety devices on trucks from being measured with the legal weight limit of the vehicle.

The measure would amend the motor truck limits to not count safety devices weighing up to 600 pounds in figuring the legal weight of the vehicle.

CD Meeting Opened To Enrollees

ALL PERSONS who have taken Civil Defense police courses in the past, as well as prospective enrollees for Fall sessions, are invited to a county-wide auxiliary police rally at 8 tonight in the East Stroudsburg Junior High School auditorium.

County C-D Executive Director Paul M. Crown said all Civil Defense and borough officials are also invited to attend the meeting.

Secretaries will be on hand to enroll students for the forthcoming classes, which are open to both men and women.

Wrong Address Given In Case

THE DAILY RECORD reported last Thursday that Laird K. Rhodes, vice-president of Power-Matic Corp., had been arrested on a charge of fraudulent conversion of partnership funds, and said the arrest was made on the oath of Howard G. Smith, 108 Marguerite St.

Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser explained last night that the report should have read Howard E. Smith, 121 Lee Ave. For any embarrassment this error has caused Howard G. Smith or his family the Record is sorry.

Democratic Rally at the Court House

THURSDAY, OCT. 27th, 8:00 P.M.

Hon. Joseph J. Lawler

Pennsylvania Secretary of Highways

Principal Speaker

COME AND HEAR THE FACTS!

Democratic Committee of Monroe County

WHY THE COMMUNITY CHEST?

12 Appeals In ONE Campaign

THE COMMUNITY CHEST provides the cheapest method of raising and disbursing community funds . . . under the guidance of responsible community leaders.

You can give generously to your Monroe County Community Chest with confidence, knowing that the agency budgets are carefully scrutinized and that the funds are properly allocated to provide the maximum service.

The Community Chest is the American Good Neighbor Way of assuming our share of Community responsibility for our United and Welfare Services.

The Youth of Monroe County derive benefits from the BOY SCOUTS, the GIRL SCOUTS and our new Y. M. C. A. These are worthwhile organizations that deserve the whole-hearted support of all citizens.

The Children's Aid Society and other Child Welfare Agencies need monies to carry out their year 'round programs in the care and guidance of our children in need. Let's not deprive children of necessary care that our Community Chest contributions can give them.

The Salvation Army . . . an organization that has done so much to help our people in time of need should be given the necessary funds to carry out their God-Chosen work.

The General Hospital is a haven for all who are sick and require medical attention and services. The sum allocated to our Hospital is insignificant compared to the cost of running an institution as fine as our Monroe County General Hospital.

THE EMERGENCY FUND . . . additional expenses caused by the disastrous floods of August 18th. Some agencies will require additional expenses this year to meet their added responsibilities.

THIS LIBRARY DOESN'T LEND BOOKS

THERE'S A LIBRARY in Tulsa, Okla., which doesn't contain any modern best sellers. In fact, the newest issue on the shelves dates back some millions of years. All of the "stories" in the 13,000 volumes are bound in solid rock. This unusual library contains carefully indexed samples of rock cores from 725 oil wells in Canada, United States and other parts of the world. These rocks can be read only by trained geologists who ferret out happenings of centuries past. These rock cores, which come out of drill holes, help researchers to speed development of new oil finding methods. Chemical studies determine which rocks are possible sources of oil. One shipment received at the library weighed 17,000 pounds. Library also gets requests from universities and museums.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Schnackertz

Couple Wed Saturday At Grace Church

Frederick William Schnackertz, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Schnackertz of Bremerhaven, Germany, and Mrs. Helen Fritz Dunbar, formerly of Orwigsburg, now of Fawn Cabins, East Stroudsburg, were married on Saturday at 6 p.m. before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony in the presence of a group of friends.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fritz of Adamsdale, Pa., and is employed at Fawn Cabins Restaurant. The bridegroom is head chef at Echo Lake Farms Hotel. The bride wore a street-length dress of sky-blue lace with matching accessories and a white rosebud corsage. Her maid-of-honor, Miss Florence Zimmerman, of Orwigsburg, wore a beige brocade street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Terrence A. Dunbar and Frederick Williams, sons of the bride's parents, attended the ceremony.

Clyde Heckman served as acolyte and Miss Leola Bunnell, Grace Church organist, played a medley of nuptial melodies. A bouquet of chrysanthemums graced the altar.

A wedding supper was held in honor of the newlyweds at Marconi's Country Inn, Saylorsburg. Following the reception, they left for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls. They will be at home to their friends at Star Route, East Stroudsburg.

Legion Aux. Women To Work

The American Legion Auxiliary of George N. Kemp Post will meet Wednesday night at the Legion Home to continue "Operation Clean-up". Members are asked to wear boots or rubbers and to bring lots of old newspapers.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It has long been customary to find tucked away in announcements of lodge meetings the information that members are supposed to wear "long white dresses", but this is the first time I've had that members are supposed to wear "boots or rubbers".

It's a practical suggestion in as much as the Legion Auxiliary members are still engaged in clean-up work and it adds a note of piquancy.

A note of urgency, however, is creeping into the telephone calls about what happened to the birthday party and no wonder. The tale the stories are piling up they must begin to think that they can combine two birthdays in one.

Usually a fourth week is fairly open but not this month. Add to the special events category the Community Chest kick-off, the Girl Scout Council meeting and some meetings shifted forward or back and you've really got a jam.

However by rationing the brides to one a day and hoping that the birthday parties will stay the same age for a few more years, we'll make it, I hope.

Judge Davis Speaks Today At Mt. Pocono

Mount Pocono — Judge Fred W. Davis, director of Civil Defense for Monroe County, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Mount Pocono Parent-Teachers Association tonight at 8 at the school. His topic will be on Civil Defense and the PTA has invited the members of the fire company, the fire company auxiliary and the general public to attend.

Peeney Speaks At Altar, Rosary Society Meeting

Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Catholic Church had as their guest speaker at their meeting last week Walter S. Peeney who told of his trip to Hawaii.

One of the highlights of his talk was the description of his visit to a Catholic Church on the islands. The church itself consisted of a roof supported by large crude logs, the shutters to keep out the rain, and it was filled with tropical flowers on the altars, under the statues and in the shrines. It was crowded on the day of his visit with the people seeming to be poor, but very clean and devout.

Peeney was introduced by Mrs. William A. Hannas, program chairman, who also distributed the yearbooks. Mrs. Adolph Oppel presided at the meeting when Mrs. Harold Goldy asked the members to support the annual bazaar scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Mrs. Sam Driebe, chairman of ways and means, presented a fruit basket to Mrs. Paul McDaniel.

Mrs. John Koleun was chairman of the hospitality committee and was assisted by Mrs. Stephen Sobinski, Mrs. Frances Somers, Mrs. George Stack, Mrs. Joseph Steele, Mrs. Howard Strouse, Mrs. Kenneth Strunk, Mrs. John Sullivan, Mrs. Don Summa, Mrs. John Swartley, Mrs. John Sweeney, Mrs. George Rung, Mrs. Edward Ryan, Miss Hilda Ryan, and Mrs. William Tarr. Mrs. James Somers and Mrs. Eugene Tierney poured.

SHOPPER

Just as plastic had rather a struggle for acceptance because many shoppers considered it "cheap looking," stainless steel tableware has had much the same difficulty. Housewives admire its practicality and budget-mindedness, and in the past few years have admitted that the styling is becoming more smart and interesting. But they still feel, in many cases, that the appearance is far below that which they maintain on their dining tables.

If you are one of this contingent, "allergic to stainless steel" for this particular reason, we urge you to see the beautiful new holloware just arrived in our jewelry department from Denmark and England.

Danish silver has been the epitome of splendor for years... and the same good taste that has gone into its design is reflected in Danish steelware. The English ware is also very beautiful... both, as a matter of fact, having much the same appearance as costly English pewter. The designs are contemporary, and any one, or all, of the pieces would be a distinctive addition to any perfectly appointed dining room.

In the newly arrived collection you will find salt and pepper shakers at 4.00; two sizes of gravy boat trimmed in wood, at 6.50 and 7.50; a 10.00 salad bowl; a tea strainer at 3.75; an entire dish at 17.85; a cold meat platter at 10.99 and a gorgeous well and tree platter at 22.00. Any one of these would be a much welcomed Christmas, wedding or housewarming gift. I am sure... and with it would go all the elegance of pewter plus all the convenience of rough, tough, durable steel—a diamond in the rough if ever we've seen one!

JOTS AND DASHES: From Helen Greiner, vacationing in Williamsburg, Va., comes a letter of old-fashioned scroll type telling of all the interesting things she and her husband are seeing. It makes me a bit anxious to return—Williamsburg is that sort of a place!... From Florida comes Ruth Widmer's card, days after her arrival home and her return to our stationery department where her handsome fan is gradually bleaching... Betty Bartholomew and Van Serfass join me in my office for a cup of coffee and a doughnut—and Van whispers away several hundred words a minute, telling all about her recent throat operations, and the fact that she'll begin this week to talk aloud once again. She hopes to be back at our Wyckoff switchboard within another several weeks—if she doesn't wear out her "new" voice before it's broken in!... No one can ever say our Keiller candy guessing contest wasn't on the level! Cora Albertson and Elsie Miller filled the bag, and not even they knew after 4 p.m. Saturday when the contest closed. Then the girls in our offices counted it piece by piece. But while the candy was in the window there were all kinds of queries: Is there a pillow in the bag, or is it packed solid? Are all the different flavors the same size? Is there a false bottom in that platform that holds the bag? The answers to all were NO—everything was just as met the eye, and we're as happy about the outcome as can be, because it looks at this stage as though our prizes covered a lot of territory... You'd be surprised to know how many entrants in our "Identify the Voice" contest guessed Cora Bishop of our Sears catalogue order desk to be Dottie Dunn of the merchandise office. Just goes to show what a fine impression Dottie made with our customers during her years on the PBX board.

This season has seen many popular nylon and cotton combinations. Some of these fabrics are treated with a resin to give them a crisp, silk-like hang. They have been used widely by dress designers for street, afternoon, and cocktail dresses.

The NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF DRYCLEANING says that a number of these garments are being returned by women on the grounds of general unserviceability to wear, drycleaning, and wetcleaning. Some women have noted fabric damage even before the garment is cleaned.

The complaints registered against this class of fabric fall into two categories: In one type of damage, a splitting of the fabric occurs. A 15-denier nylon is used in the warp and cotton in the filling. The warp yarn is not very strong. The yarns can snap and break with tension or strain of wear. Any tension used in removing wrinkles during pressing or finishing a garment may also cause the damage.

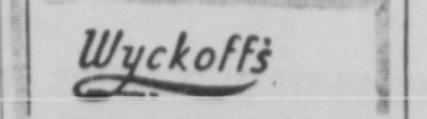

The second type of damage results from pressing these fabrics. An iron temperature necessary to press a cotton fabric is too hot to press a nylon fabric. When these two fibers are combined, it is very easy to fuse the nylon fibers if the iron is set at the cotton setting. These fused areas develop into small breaks or holes in the fabric.

Stock Market Up Seventh Successive Day; Steady, Quiet Session Recorded

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The stock market achieved its seventh rise in succession today in a steady, quiet session.

The market opened slightly higher, then expanded its gains gradually throughout the day. Prices were generally at their best in key stocks at the close although some of the best gains were shaded slightly.

The best gains in pivotal issues ran to as much as around 3 points.

Steels were the leaders almost from the start. Coppers took their share of the spotlight in late afternoon. Toward the close there was a flurry in low-priced motors and dealings in some aircrafts were noticeably brisk.

Climbed 80 Cents

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 80 cents to $170.90. For the first time since Oct. 6 it was above the closing level four weeks ago today when the market suffered its first and biggest "blue Monday" following news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The list was composed of 1,145 individual issues, only slightly broader than Friday's market. Of the total, 597 advanced and 318 declined. There were 17 new highs and 12 new lows for the year.

Volume still remained below the two-million-share level, standing at 1,829,000 compared with 1,710,000 on Friday.

Corporate bonds were higher as were U. S. government issues.

Three Enlist In Air Force

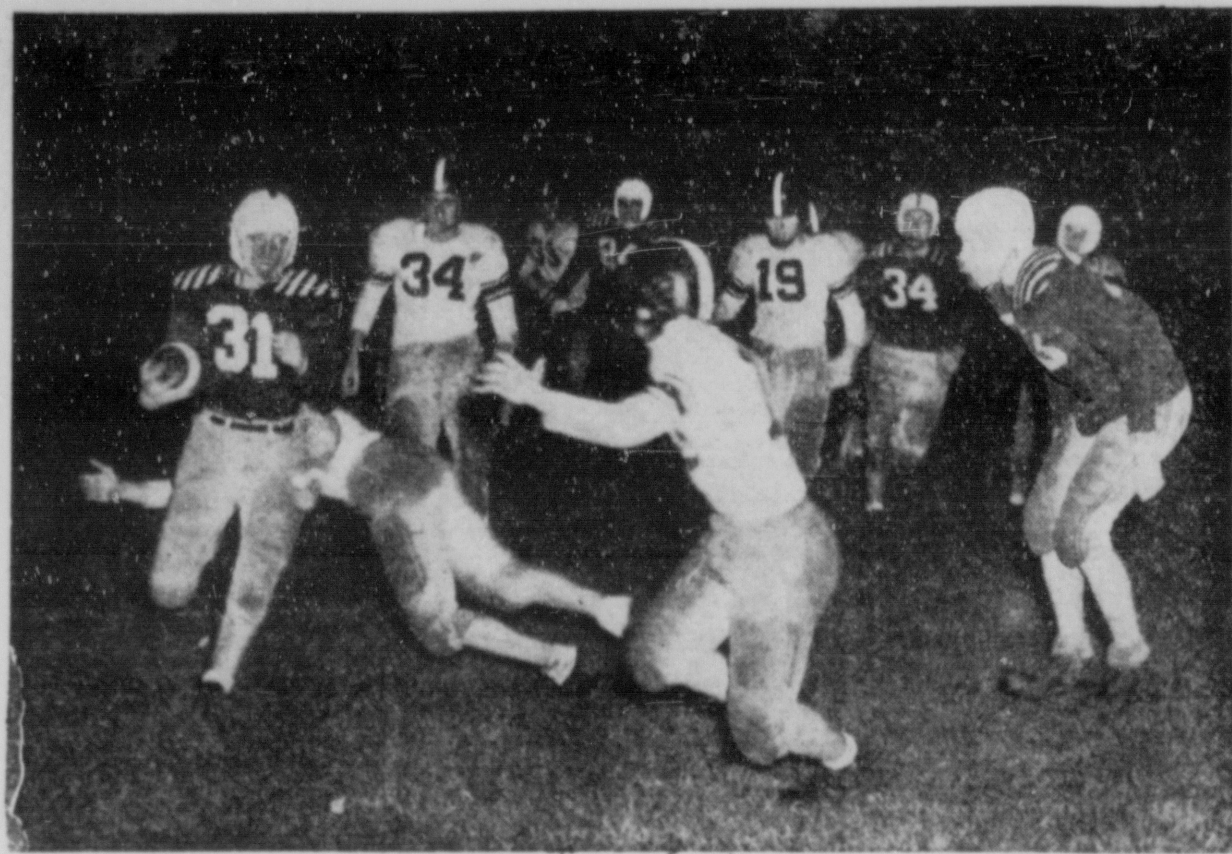

THREE MONROE County youths have enlisted in the U. S. Air Force.

They are: Ray Singer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Singer, Stroudsburg RD1; G. Robert Arnold, 20, son of Mrs. Charlotte Van Why, N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg; and Forrest Heller, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Heller, Scotia.

All three men are 1955 graduates of Stroudsburg High School.

Lightburn Bangs Out Easy Ring Decision Over Khalfi

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn, a bright lightweight prospect from British Honduras, easily outclassed experienced Hoacine Khalfi of Algeria in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. It was the fourth straight victory for Lightburn, who outweighted the loser, 138½ to 136½.

The rangy Negro, 20, led all the way. He set the pace with a stabbing left hand and battered Khalfi, 27, with many flashy combinations of punches.

Lightburn was credited with a knockdown in the fifth round although Khalfi did not drop to the floor.

A smashing right to the jaw sent Khalfi downward but he hit the bottom rope in his descent and bounced erect. Referee Mark Conn saw that the Algerian was hurt and gave him an eight-count.

Conn and Judge Leo Birnbaum each had Lightburn in front 8-2. Judge Bill Reecht had Ludwig ahead 9-1. The AP card had Lightburn ahead 8-2.

Monroe County Softball Loop Elects Slate Of Officers

A NEW SLATE of officers was elected for the coming season during a meeting of the Monroe County Softball League last night. The gathering was held at the offices of The Daily Record.

Joe Whalen, sports announcer for radio station WVPO, was elected president, while Bruce Possinger, last season's president, will serve as vice president for the coming year.

Bill Reaser was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer, succeeding Bill Stone.

Possinger announced during the course of the meeting that encouraging news had been received concerning the possibility of holding the Keystone Amateur Softball Tournament here next summer. The tournament plays host to teams from all sections of Pennsylvania.

Two Entries
If the tournament is held here next summer it is quite possible that two teams will represent the Monroe County League.

Twin City, winner of the 1955 circuit title and third place team in the tournament held this year, will be the host team and won't have to qualify for a tournament berth.

The team winning next year's mid-season tournament will also play in the state affair, providing it is held here. If Twin City wins the tournament the number two club in the standings will receive the second tournament berth.

Another softball meeting will be held at The Daily Record offices next Tuesday, at which time all teams wishing to play next year should have a representative on hand. The meeting is listed for 7:30 p. m.

Local Officials At Meeting

BETHLEHEM — The Eastern Pennsylvania Football Officials Association held a meeting here at Liberty High School last night.

A discussion of situations and rules dominated the regularly scheduled get together.

Attendance
Al Sterner, Ed McDonald and Tom Whalen, East Stroudsburg, and Joe Whalen, Stroudsburg, were in attendance.

Joe Romano, Roseto, and Faust Capobianco, Bangor, also attended.

Nears Soccer Record

UNIVERSITY PARK, Oct. 21—Dick Packer, who's racking up an average of three goals per game, is considered a good bet to set a new Penn State season soccer scoring record. The old mark of 23 goals was set in 1952 by Jack Pinech.

Twin City To Hold Banquet

TWIN CITY TV, title holder in the Monroe County Softball League, will hold a banquet on Saturday, November 19, it was announced last night by Dick "Dipe" Lessig, team manager.

The banquet will be held in the Towne Room of the Town Tavern and will get under way at 8 p. m.

Trophies
Bruce Possinger, president of the circuit during the past season, will be on hand to present trophies to the champions.

The informal get-together is being held for players and their wives or girlfriends.

Twin City finished third in the state tournament sponsored by the Keystone Amateur Softball Association during the past summer.

Battles Rage For Scholastic Grid Ratings

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24 (AP)—Only a handful of teams were still in the running today in the major Pennsylvania schoolboy football conferences as the 1955 campaign neared the home stretch.

Johnstown, Indiana, Old Forge, Minersville, Williamsport and Carlisle hold the leads in their conferences either by virtue of wins or complicated rating systems.

However, none has a substantial lead and the picture could change overnight.

With seven weeks of play already on the record books, here's how the major conferences look:

Appearance

WPAL AA—Johnstown is currently leading the strong conference with a 5-0 league record including a 26-14 weekend victory over New Castle. Close on the Johnnies trail, however, are Alliquippa and Mt. Lebanon, each with 4-0 league records.

Only two other teams are in contention in the league — Turtle Creek and Ambridge, both 3-0.

Two teams were eliminated over the weekend. Altoona dropped a 20-0 decision to Greensburg while Alliquippa whipped previously unbeaten Sharon 37-18. A loss or tie in the loop automatically eliminates a team from title contention.

Western Conference — Indiana despite its scoreless tie with Westmont, clung to a narrow lead in the conference with a 2-0-1 league record. Indiana's rating of .500, however, is only 10 more than Huntington's despite the team's 6-0 league record.

Holidaysburg is also 6-0 on the season but trails Huntington in points with 480. The point system is based on the quality of opponents defeated.

Other contenders are Somerset and Clearfield, both 6-0 in league play but trailing the leaders in the ratings.

Eastern Conference — In the northern division, Old Forge surged into first place over the weekend with a 26-7 pasting of Scranton Central.

The Blue Devils, who also boosted their all-winning streak to 17 games, hold a 5-0 record and are rated at .526.

Swoyersville, however, is breathing down Old Forge's neck with a rating of .520 and a 6-0 league record. The Blue Devils and Swoyers meet next weekend in a match sure to juggle the standings.

In the Southern Division, Minersville held first place for the second straight week by beating West Hazleton 33-7. Minersville, 6-0 on the season is rated at .679.

Defending Champ
Defending champion Mount Carmel, however, is close behind with a 5-1 record and .617. Mount Carmel has already lost a 40-6 decision to Coal Twp.

Central Penn—Williamsport won again by a lopsided score, this time over Harrisburg John Harris 34-6. It was the Millionaires' fourth league win against no losses. But before the squad can repeat last year's championship, it must beat Steelton, 53-0 winner over Lancaster and 3-0 in league play this season.

South Penn—Carlisle, defending co-champion, whipped Hanover 25-6 to become the only unbeaten squad in the league. However, Carlisle has a heavy league schedule ahead which may upset the applecart.

Meanwhile, major teams undefeated and untied stood at 19.

Holding seven wins in all games this season are Minersville, Warren, the Section II champion, Johnstown, Turtle Creek, Somerset, Huntington, Clearfield and Holidaysburg.

Teams winning six games include Wilkes-Barre Myers, Swoyersville, Clarks Summit, Easton, Williamsport and Carlisle.

Old Forge, Mahanoy Twp., Alliquippa, Lower Merion each have five wins this year against no losses while Steelton has a 4-0 record.

Lower Merion extended its all-winning streak to 19 over the weekend with a 33-6 triumph over Upper Darby.

Stroudsburg Blanks Palmerton, 18-0

Mountaineers Account For Third Victory

STROUDSBURG High's junior varsity grid machine preserved its undefeated record at Gordon Giffels Field yesterday with a convincing 18-0 verdict over Palmerton. It was the third victory in four starts for the Mountaineers, who also battled Bangor to a 12-12 deadlock.

Dick Everitt got the ball rolling for the charges of Coaches George Metropoulos and Charley Winters as he slashed over for the first TD on a quarterback sneak from three yards out. A fumble ruined the bid for an extra point.

In the second period Charley Gussett, the ace pass catcher for the Mountaineers, grabbed an aerial from Everitt and stepped into paydirt. The play covered 12 yards. Once again the extra point attempt failed as a pass fell incomplete.

Third Score

Stroudsburg wound up the scoring for the day when Noel Campbell, probably the number one ground gainer in the contest, ripped off four yards to cross the double chalk mark. The Mountaineers drove 50 yards for this touchdown.

Everitt was tackled behind the line of scrimmage as the Mountaineers failed for the third time to add the extra point.

Stroudsburg completely dominated the play from start to finish and Palmerton never presented a serious threat. Rain and wind marred the contest.

The Mountaineers have defeated Lehigh, 20-0; Pen Argyl, 19-6 and Palmerton two of the three wins have taken place at Giffels Field.

The Mountaineers risk their undefeated mark next Monday against East Stroudsburg High's yearlings. The game will be played at Memorial Stadium at 4 p. m.

Joe Bailey, Stroudsburg tackle, left the game in the second quarter with a knee injury.

Lineups follow:

Two Speakers Named

UNIVERSITY PARK, Oct. 24—Two of the State's top schoolboy coaches will speak at Penn State's one-day basketball clinic Saturday, November 26. The guest coaches are Bob Forward, of Chester, and Ken Slosky, of New Kensington.

ule ahead which may upset the applecart.

Meanwhile, major teams undefeated and untied stood at 19.

Holding seven wins in all games this season are Minersville, Warren, the Section II champion, Johnstown, Turtle Creek, Somerset, Huntington, Clearfield and Holidaysburg.

Lower Merion extended its all-winning streak to 19 over the weekend with a 33-6 triumph over Upper Darby.

STROUDSBURG High, fresh from a thrilling 13-12 football victory over Wilson Borough, enjoyed a day off from the practice field yesterday.

But, Coach Jack Kist announced that his charges would get back to the old grind today in preparation for this coming Saturday's tussle with Hellertown, on the latter's home field, at 2 p. m.

The East Stroudsburg-Hellertown battle isn't a Lehigh-Northampton League affair.

Kist pointed out that Dave Brands, big tackle, is currently hobbling on a swollen right knee and Roger Strouse is nursing a damaged elbow, both injuries resulting from the torrid battle with Wilson before a capacity crowd at Memorial Stadium.

Les Bernbaum and Bill Strunk, East Stroudsburg's two active centers, are now both sporting "shiners." Each suffered a cut under the eye in last Saturday night's battle and now they have black eyes.

In Hellertown, the Cavaliers will go up against one of their toughest foes of the current campaign.

East Stroudsburg, currently leading the league, will battle Port Jervis, Nazareth and Stroudsburg after the struggle with Hellertown.

Martin said last night that Jim Oplinger, first string quarterback, suffered a knee injury and underwent whirl-pool treatment yesterday.

Otherwise the Warriors suffered nothing worse than a series of bumps and bruises.

Football Band Day

UNIVERSITY PARK, Oct. 24 — Band Day, now in its sixth year, will attract 63 high school bands to Beaver Field for the Penn State-Syracuse football game Saturday, November 5. Weather intervened only once, in 1953, when a 12-inch snowstorm ruled out the half-time show. There'll be 4,514 handmen in this year's routine.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Oct. 24 — Penn State's 96-man Blue Band, which annually makes two football trips, will go to Philadelphia Saturday for the Penn-Penn State game. The band chose the Virginia game at Richmond for its earlier trip.

One ESSTC Back Hurt On Saturday

A SHOULDER separation by Guido "Geetz" DiTorre, first string halfback, is apparently the only serious injury accounted for by the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College football team in Saturday's terrific battle with West Chester before a record "Home Coming Day" crowd on Normal Hill.

Coach Gene Martin gave the Warriors a day off yesterday, but plans plenty of work this week in preparation for next Saturday's outing with Kutztown.

At Home

The ESSTC-Kutztown struggle will also take place on the Normal Hill field and will get underway at 2 p. m.

Martin said last night that Jim Oplinger, first string quarterback, suffered a knee injury and underwent whirl-pool treatment yesterday.

Penn To Host State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Oct. 24—Penn State and Pennsylvania will come to grips in football for the 44th time Saturday, at Franklin Field in Philadelphia.

The two first met in 1890 and the Nittany Lions have been waging an uphill fight ever since to even the series.

Penn, winner of the first 15 games played by these two teams, owns a 25-14 edge in victories. Four games were stalemated.

Last year, Penn State rode to a 25-13 victory behind the brilliant running of halfback Lenny Moore.

Moore, who has known both victory and defeat at Franklin Field, scored three times in the 1954 contest.

Pennsylvania, which last won by a 13-7 count in 1953, owns only two wins in its last nine games against the Lions.

Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg Emerge From Latest Football Struggles With Minor Injuries

STROUDSBURG High's varsity football squad went through a short loosening up drill yesterday without heavy equipment. But, the Mountaineers will return to full scale practice today, it was announced yesterday by Coach John Whitehead.

The Mountaineers, beaten by Whitehall last Friday night, 25-0, will face powerful Catawqua on the latter's home gridiron this coming Saturday at 2 p. m.

Leg Damage
Whitehead revealed that Bob Armitage, defensive tackle, suffered a bruised right leg, but will begin practicing tomorrow and will be ready for full time duty against the Rough Riders on Saturday.

The Stroudsburg coach also announced that Phil Newman, co-captain and defensive end, has returned to the squad after a back injury. It was also revealed that Doug Shook, big pass catching end had six stitches removed from a cut under his mouth yesterday and will return to action on Saturday.

Following Catawqua the Mountaineers tangle with Saltington, Northampton and East Stroudsburg in that order.

At Home
The ESSTC-Kutztown struggle will also take place on the Normal Hill field and will get underway at 2 p. m.

Mexicans Show Class Over Jumps

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP)—They talked and talked about an auto accident devastating the Mexican Army horse show team. But the Mexicans, one carrying head gashes patched by 18 stitches, another riding with a shot of pain deadener and the third a substitute, didn't hear the talk.

For by the time the first international jumping test of the 1955 Pennsylvania National Horse Show was in the books the Mexicans had one victory—and a second place red ribbon to boot.

A slick chestnut gelding with the name of August 14, handled by Lt. Roberto Vinals, the youngster of the Mexican trio, took first with two perfect and swift rides. He won by the clock, finishing a second faster than Brig. Gen. Humberto Mariles, captain of the victorious team.

Two Rides
Mariles, on Chihuahua II, also turned in two clean rides. At times his face showed pain from the two cracks in the tailbone suffered in the auto crash a week ago. But riding higher in the saddle than ordinary he brought a roar from the crowd with his usual thrilling exhibition. His tie for the jump-off was 35.1 seconds compared with 34.6 for Vinals.

Vinals wore two long strips of adhesive covering the gashes on his forehead and under the chin. Mariles was given a shot of novocain in his back by the team doctor, just before the jumping began.

Hugh Wiley, Towson, Md., on Nautical, better known in the east by his former name of Injun Joe, accounted for the new United States equestrian team's first points on the 1955 North American Horse show circuit. He also had two faultless performances but the last was 43 seconds to place him behind Vinals and Mariles.

McShane, 33, was business manager of Charleston in the American Association in 1953, and last year held the same post for the Idaho Falls club in the class "C" Pioneer League.

EAST STROUDSBURG High School's football team received a much deserved vacation from practice yesterday as a reward for its thrilling 13-12 victory over Wilson Borough on Saturday night. The terrific amount of excitement is beginning to wear off now, but the fact that the once down trodden East Stroudsburg grid machine is leading the Lehigh-Northampton League still has the fans talking. It's been a long and tough road, but there's only on more serious curve ahead.

This reporter has never seen a high school coaching staff prepare for a game in the manner in which the Eastburg mentors worked for Wilson. Headed by Jack Kist the staff left no stone unturned and by game time they knew virtually every weakness of each Wilson player who trotted on the field. It was a terrific task, one that required many grueling hours of work, but the one-point margin made all the labor worth while.

Saturday's victory by the Cavaliers was a team decision in the strictest sense of the word. True, several of the youngsters appeared more outstanding than others, but the fact is that everyone turned in the job he was assigned. The Cavaliers didn't play a perfect game, but each of the purple and white color bearers did all in his power to follow instructions to the letter. It was a team desire, rather than individual play, that enabled East Stroudsburg to protect its unbeaten league record.

The running of Gene Plaza, the defensive and offensive play of Dick Gray and the college-like punting of Bill Loder were outstanding and deserve much praise. But, it was the shock troops up front who turned the tide. The kids who are seldom credited with anything special, came through on high. It was fatigue and fatigue alone that hampered the N. Courtland St. stalwarts in the second half, as Wilson tried desperately to pull the game out of the fire in the late minutes, just as it had two times in the past.

But, although unable to move with the quickness they displayed in the first half, the home town linemen stayed with their guns and kept firing until the Wilson bubble burst. Who will ever forget the two key recoveries of Wilson fumbles by Danny Marvin and Roger Strouse, or the time that Co-Captain Jim Kimer was blocked out of a play twice and still got up to throw the ball carrier for a loss?

Displays of courage were a dime a dozen in the East Stroudsburg camp. Les Bernbaum, now playing the finest football of his career, was cut under the eye and went to the hospital to have the gash closed by four stitches. But, he returned to the bench and was begging Kist to put him back in the game during the late portion of the final period. Strouse was forced from the battle with a painfully bruised elbow, but he was back in the thick of things two plays later.

Nobody will ever forget the tears of joy which streamed down the bearded faces of Plaza and Marvin as they raced madly around in circles or the Eastburg back who even in the glorious victory celebration cried because he almost lost the game by letting a pass receiver get behind him in the last period. It will be a long time before anyone's memory loses track of the picture of the entire Eastburg bench, and many of the players on the field, counting off the final seconds on the clock.

Can anyone ever forget the sight of Kist racing madly to the middle of the field to hug and congratulate his players and then be hoisted to his shoulders and carried from the field? Kist, a Wilson boy, had come back to haunt his Alma-Mater with one of the greatest bits of coaching in scholastic ranks and his happiness was boundless. In the last three years he narrowly missed turning the trick, but Jack and his boys made the grade Saturday.

Dick Forster's big, happy grin; Del Davis' long strides as he came down from his perch in the press box, and the complete relaxed expression of Mike Jacobella revealed that a tired trio of assistant coaches were just as happy as anyone in Memorial Stadium. The job could never have been accomplished without their tireless efforts. And we, the grandstand quarterbacks, hatched a new crop of ulcers, but the final score made everything all right. We had a little more spring to our step, and a broader smile and a strange, but gratifying, feeling in our hearts. Two weeks of grueling work had brought winning dividends to the Cavaliers.

Bangor Junior Varsity Downs Hellertown Foe, 13-7

Slaters Tally In First, Third Periods

HELLERTOWN — Bangor High junior varsity scored in the first and third periods here yesterday to register a 13-7 football victory over the Hellertown yearlings here on the rain and wind swept home field of the losing club.

The win was the second in five outings for Bangor, who has suffered two defeats and deadlocked one game.

Ron DeNardo notched Bangor's first touchdown amid the wind and rain by racing over the double chalk mark from the 15-yard line. Barry Reimer ran for the extra point.

"Skip" Menhennit tallied Bangor's second touchdown when he crossed from the two-yard stripe in the third quarter. The extra point bid failed.

Final Score

Hellertown came up with its only touchdown of the game in the fourth and final period when Ronnie Best tallied on a three-yard plunge. Al Schmidt drove through the line for the extra point.

Bangor will attempt to land its third victory of the current campaign next Monday when the Slaters stack up against the Nazareth yearlings. This contest will be played at Nazareth, at 4 p.m.

Lineups follow:

Bangor (11):
Ends: Walters, Jolley, Hase, Tackles: Moore, Vonnell, Menhennit, Guards: Martucci, Trigliani, Smith, La Bar, Kistner, Centers: Mahus, Lerriss, Backs: Best, DeNardo, Menhennit, Reimer, Nianberry, Wills, Reimer.

Hellertown (11):
Ends: Kitchner, Leichter, Tackles: Kitchner, Flick, Guards: McNeil, Butler, Center: Meyers, Backs: Mason, Best, Rodriguez, Schmidt, Galtier.

Score by period:
Bangor: 7 6 0-13
Hellertown: 0 0 7-7
Bangor Scoring: Touchdowns: DeNardo, Menhennit, Best; Point after touchdown: Reimer (punting).
Hellertown Scoring: Touchdown: Best; Point after touchdown: Schmidt (punting).

Colonel Wins Medalist Title

PINEHURST, N. C., Oct. 24 (AP)—Col. Charles Dawson McAllister (ret.) of Orlando, Fla., fired a 68 today—the best golf score of his 69 years—to win the qualifying medal in the fourth annual North and South Senior Invitational tournament.

McAllister, who flies his private plane to senior tournaments all over the country, was out in 33 and back in 35 over the number two course to top the medal by one stroke over Royen B. Schriener of Rye, N. Y.

Entries

Forty-three entrants shot 79 or lower to break the qualifying limit for the championship flight of 32 players.

Top runnerup scores today included B. F. Krafft, Titusville, Pa., 35-36-71.

Former Cage Coach Dies

OAKMONT, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP)—James M. Wood, 54, a graduate of Bucknell University where he was a member of the track and basketball teams, died Saturday in Presbyterian Hospital, Pittsburgh following a long illness.

A former teacher, he was on the faculty of Berlin, Pa., High School from 1924 to 1929, and was head basketball coach there before coming to Oakmont High where he taught and coached basketball until 1941. He has been associated with the Edgewater Steel Co. since 1942.

Survivors

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Helen Wood; a daughter, Mrs. Peggy Frost, of East Oakmont, and his mother, Mrs. Ella M. Wood, of Wilkinsburg. Funeral services will be Wednesday.

Legion Keglers To Bowl Today

AMERICAN LEGION League keglers will clash at the Pocono Bowling Center today at 9 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Ray's Service vs. Prudential.

Alleys three and four — Commandos vs. Jokers.

Alleys five and six — KPs vs. Air Corps.

Alleys seven and eight — Sad Sacks vs. Gold Bricks.

Our Lady Of Mt. Carmel Wins Third Grid Tilt

EASTON — Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, of Roseto, swept to its third straight football victory of the current campaign here on Sunday with a 34-7 verdict over St. James, of Easton.

The victory put Our Lady of Mt. Carmel into first place in the standings of the scholastic circuit. Teams consist of boys between the ages of 12 and 15. Roseto's squad scored in every period except the first, with Joe Pozzelli, Nick Del Grosso, Faust Viglione and Fred LaPenna scoring touchdowns.

HE DID IT — John Bach, East Stroudsburg end, is pictured above grabbing a pass during recent practice session. Bach also made a shoe string catch of an extra point pass from Gene Plaza on Saturday night and the play gave East Stroudsburg a 13-12 victory over Wilson Borough. (Staff Photo by Riley)

West Chester Retains Lead In Football Conference Race

JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 24—Eli McLaughlin's 28-yard field goal—the first in conference play this season—enabled West Chester to nose out East Stroudsburg, 23-20, and the Rams protected their lead in the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges Football Conference.

California provided the week-end's biggest surprise by knocking Slippery Rock from the undefeated, untied class with a 7-0 victory gained in the final three minutes of play.

Underdog Clarion remained undefeated in conference action by walling off Indiana, 27-7. Lock Haven scored the greatest one-sided victory in the five-year history of the conference by drubbing Winifred Cheyney, 54-0. Mansfield defeated Kutztown, 25-6.

This week's top conference game is slated at California where Clarion hopes to stop the rejuvenated Vulcans' current winning trend.

Other games next Saturday finds Lock Haven at Indiana, Mansfield at Edinboro, Kutztown at East Stroudsburg and Millersville at Shippensburg.

Stroudsburg Entry Shines

BANGOR — Blue Mountain Rod and Gun Club held a tune-up shoot for local hunters with blue rock and white flyer shoots at the club grounds near here on Sunday.

Scoring high in the blue rock competition was Charley Kitchner, Stroudsburg, who scored 24 breaks out of 25 and came back to score 21 out of 25 later.

He shared top honors with Joe Junglas, of Easton; Rucky Hess, of Johnsonville; and Duane Honey, of Pen Argyl who also scored 24 for 25.

It was John Young, of Bethlehem, besting all other contestants in the white flyer competition with a score of 13 for 15.

Bushkill Keglers Roll

BUSHKILL LEAGUE keglers clash at Harmon's Recreation today at 9 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Up Valley Boys vs. Stump Jumpers.

Alleys three and four — Coon Hunters vs. Little Ambers.

Alleys five and six — Fox Hunters vs. Busters.

State To Set New Record

UNIVERSITY PARK, Oct. 24—Penn State in 1955 will play before more people at Beaver Field than ever before in its 69 years of intercollegiate football competition.

This distinction was assured today when athletic officials disclosed that the Syracuse game, like the Navy game before it and the Pitt game after it, will be played before a sell-out crowd of 30,000 or more.

With the Syracuse game sold out, Penn State's home attendance for four games rose to an anticipated 110,000 as compared with the previous high of 103,751.

The 1955 total will far surpass the four-game high of 96,210 set last year, and easily top the five-game high of 103,751 established in 1952. There was only one sell-out in each of these two years as the average attendance per game hovered between 20 and 24,000.

Only game not sold out during the current season was the September opener against Boston University.

In addition to Roseto, Phillipsburg, Easton and Pen Argyl are represented in the circuit.

Father John Shanley is in charge of the athletic program at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel School.

The Casciano charges will return to action next Sunday, at ing touchdowns.

LaPenna scored twice for the Roseto contingent, the second time on a 65-yard jaunt.

St. James averted a shutout on a 40-yard pass play in the last period.

Our Lady of Mt. Carmel is coached by Lewis Casciano, former star end for the Bangor High squad.

The Casciano charges will return to action next Sunday, at

Pittsburgh Stockholders To Meet

By Charles Welsh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24 (AP)—Stockholders of the Pittsburgh Pirates who have poured hundreds of thousands of dollars into a last-place team in the past five years get together tomorrow to pick a successor to Branch Rickey as general manager.

There is no doubt that Rickey, who masterminded St. Louis and Brooklyn to the top of the National League, is stepping aside without having been able to accomplish the same thing at Pittsburgh. The Pirates were lively, but nevertheless last, at the end of the '55 season.

Rickey came here under a contract for five years at an undisclosed salary gossiped to be in the well-to-do neighborhood of $100,000 a year. That contract contains an option permitting him to remain another five years in an "advisory" post, and Branch is expected to do that.

Sets Stage

But he set the stage for a successor as general manager in the waning days of the 1955 season by dropping Fred Haney as the team's field manager. That left the club in position to pick a new general manager who then could put in his own choice as field manager.

Key men in the stockholders' meeting are President John Galbreath, wealthy Columbus, Ohio, contractor, and Atty. Tom Johnson of Pittsburgh, his close associate. The roster of stockholders also includes such famous names as singer Bing Crosby and Steelmaster Benjamin F. Fairless but it could not be learned in advance whether they will be on hand.

The meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. Indicative of the likelihood that a decision has been practically reached was the call from the Pirate front office for a press conference at 10:30 a.m. That wouldn't allow any great length of time for study, or dispute, over the choice.

Gossip

Most gossip here has the general manager's post pointed at Joe La Brown, who has been an executive with the Pirates since he stepped down as president of the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Assn.

Branch Rickey Jr., another possibility for the general manager's post, could be a good bet to stay on as head of the Bucco farm system.

Maryland, Oklahoma Rate One-Two In AP's Weekly Poll Of Collegiate Football Powers

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.
The Associated Press

MARYLAND and Oklahoma, displaying the kind of awesome football power that impresses the experts, moved to the top of the national rankings today while Michigan tumbled to third place.

Maryland's Terrapins, unbeaten kingpins of the Atlantic Coast Conference, staged one of their rare invasions of the Northeast and humbled Syracuse, 15-0, team that had put the crusher on Army the week before, by a convincing 34-13 score. Oklahoma, facing its most dangerous Big Seven rival, overcame a bad start to bury Colorado, 56-21.

Overshadowed

These two overwhelming victories overshadowed the performance of Michigan, the pace setter for the past two weeks, but they evidently left some uncertainty in the minds of the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the weekly Associated Press ranking poll.

Out of 137 voters, 62 cast their first place ballots in favor of Maryland and 53 named Oklahoma first. And when the results were all tallied on the usual 10-9-8 etc. basis, Maryland was ahead by a scant 30 points. It was 1,599 for the Terrapins and 1,569 for the Sooners.

Michigan, 14-13 winner over Minnesota, preserved its undefeated status and its lead in the Big Ten conference. But this margin was so small in Michigan's second straight close game against a second-division opponent, that the Wolverines received only 29 first place votes and 1,433 points.

Meanwhile, Duke took an unexpected thumping from twice-beaten Pitt and tumbled out of the top 10 in the rankings, making room for the return of Notre Dame after a week's absence.

Big Drop

Fifth a week ago, Duke's Blue Devils could collect only 35 points after their 26-7 loss to Pitt. That dropped them down to 17th place, in the area where the voters were beginning to scatter the odd points all over the football map.

After Michigan, Navy retained fourth place with 1,177 points with

Michigan State, UCLA, West Virginia, Auburn and Notre Dame moving up into the next five and Southern California retaining tenth.

Notre Dame's Irish had dropped out of the upper group after last week's defeat by Michigan State, but they recovered as they whipped Purdue, 22-7. The other leaders all won their games by rather decisive margins.

The result was to establish next Saturday's Navy-Notre Dame game more firmly than ever as a major test of intersectional strength. While beating Penn 33-9, Navy was able to rest its star quarterback, George Welsh, who was bothered by a sprained toe. He'll be ready for the Irish, however.

Seven of the other top 10 teams are scheduled to play conference games this week against opponents which haven't fared well so far. The other, West Virginia, takes on an intersectional rival, Marquette.

The second 10:
Texas A&M, Georgia Tech, Holy Cross, Texas Christian, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Duke, Miami (Ohio), Washington, Mississippi.

Cotton Bowl Eyes Navy

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Cotton Bowl is keenly interested in Navy as the visiting team if it winds up with a fine record this football season. Felix R. McKnight, Cotton Bowl president, said today.

However, he stressed that Navy had not been contacted and that in fact no school had been contacted although the Cotton Bowl is also eyeing Auburn, Mississippi State, Georgia Tech, West Virginia and Army as possibilities.

Statements

"We are looking at the records of these schools and in a week or two will start making contacts," McKnight added. "We are especially interested in next Saturday's games."

Duke To Practice

UNDEFEATED DUKE, currently leading the East Stroudsburg Midget Football League, will practice today, at East Stroudsburg Junior High School at 5:15 p.m. The announcement was made last night by Coach Reg Nauman.

Five Baylor Gridders Lose Scholarships

WACO, Tex., Oct. 24.—Five members of Baylor University's football team, including the entire center portion of the famed Baylor line, were kicked off the squad today for breaking training rules. They included:

Center Jim Taylor, Clyde, Tex., senior; Dan Miller, Port Neches, Tex., guard, and Dugan Pierce, El Paso, junior guard.

The three were members of the first string varsity team and had played most of Baylor's games this year. Miller was unable to play the last half of Saturday's game when Texas A&M downed the Bears, 19-7.

Two Others

The other two losing their athletic scholarships were Jimmy Davenport, senior quarterback from Ballinger, and Paul Caver, sophomore from Texarkana, Ark.

Coach George Sauer said the "latest instance of rules infringement occurred in the early morning hours of Saturday prior to the A&M-Baylor game."

The coach said the five were technically still in the school but could never play on a Baylor football team again, nor for another Southwest Conference team.

ON SIDELINES—Joe Shea, who had virtually gained the status as a regular tackle on the Army football team, underwent an operation yesterday to correct damage done by a knee injury and will be lost to the Cadets for the balance of the season. Joe was an outstanding member of the East Stroudsburg High football varsity before going to West Point.

Demos Want Two Defeated Off GOP Ballot

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (AP)—Two Democrats today asked the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to rule that two defeated party members in last spring's primary should not be allowed to run as Republicans in next month's election.

Counsel for Michael J. Naddick and George Martonick argued in a brief submitted to the state's highest tribunal that the Republican Executive Committee of Carbon County "violated the central and governing purposes of party organization and party representation by banning two men defeated in the Democratic primary to fill spots on the GOP ticket."

Vote For Democrats
"The Executive Committee has in effect, sought to request the Republican electors to vote for defeated Democrats, while at the same time they have sought to request Democratic electors to vote for Democratic candidates who they themselves had already rejected," the Democrats contended.
Counsel for the GOP Executive Committee contended that a political party has a right to have a separate column on the ballot for its own ticket and that it is no concern of the law as to the composition of the ticket, whether it includes the same names that appear on other party tickets or not.
"It is the unquestioned right that each party has to name its own ticket and constitute it as it pleases," counsel for the committee wrote.

Democrats appealed to the Supreme Court from a Superior Court decision ruling that Stephen Haber and Michael Smar, defeated candidates on the Democratic ticket in last spring's primary, could be listed on the ballot in next month's election as Republican candidates.

Both Defeated
Haber and Smar were candidates in the Democratic primary in Banks Twp. and were defeated. After the primary two Republicans withdrew and the Carbon County GOP committee named Haber as its candidate for school director and Smar as its candidate for supervisor.
Judge James C. McCready of the Carbon County Court held that the board of elections should be restrained from printing the names of Haber and Smar on the ballot. An appeal to the Superior Court brought a split decision reversal of the lower court. The Superior Court ruled it was legal to place Haber and Smar on the GOP ballot.

Philharmonic Piano Quartet Opens Concert Season Here Monday At Teachers College

IN EIGHT SEASONS before the public the Philharmonic Piano Quartet, which appears here at Teachers College auditorium on Monday at 8:30, has won top favor with the press and public of the United States and Canada from coast to coast. This group of brilliant, attractive artists, each a piano virtuoso in his or her own right, has captivated the country. In especially prepared, colorfully varied programs their forty fabulous fingers at four pianos range through a repertoire which includes classics and light music, arrangements of moderns and masters.

The Philharmonic Piano Quartet consists of Gisela Richter, Moreland Kortkamp, Emmett Vokes and Herbert Rogers. The arrangements are made by composer Moritz Bomhard. All four pianists studied at New York's Juilliard School of Music; all have given successful individual concerts. The Quartet has recorded two albums for Columbia Masterworks, one entitled "Music for Four Pianos" and the other "Popular Classics for Four Pianos." In the words of the New York Times, they are a "virtuoso ensemble." Another critic termed their programs "musical entertainment at its best."

In addition to its recitals, the Quartet has played at New York's Lewisohn Stadium, Denver's Red Rocks, and for three weeks at New York's Roxy Theater. They have also appeared with the Buffalo Philharmonic and Oklahoma Symphony orchestras.

Artists Background
Gisela Richter was born in Berlin, Germany. At the age of five she began her musical studies in Basel, Switzerland. Later, in Chicago, Illinois, she was a scholarship student at De Paul University where she studied with Katja And and Sergei Tarnowsky. At New York's Juilliard School, from which she received a post-graduate degree in 1952, she was three-time recipient of G. Schirmer scholarships and twice winner of the Leopold Scheppe Foundation Award. She has appeared in numerous solo recitals and with orchestra in the East and Midwest.

Moreland Kortkamp was born in Alton, Ill., but was brought up in California where she began her piano studies at the age of nine. She won the Southern California Allied Arts Contest for two years running, and subsequently won a six-year scholarship at the Juilliard Graduate School where she studied with Josef and Rosina Lhevinne. After graduation she toured North Africa and Italy as a member of the first concert group to be sent overseas, and later she returned with the Fox Hole Ballet. She has made tours of Germany, Austria, France and England, and in this country has made many television and recital appearances.

Emmett Vokes was a student of Anton Rovinsky in his native New Jersey and of Frances Mann at the Juilliard School. More recently he has worked with the well-known teachers and pianists Beveridge Webster and Sacha Gornitzky. Among his many honors have been the Olga Samoroff Award and the Frank Damrosch Award at Juilliard. His solo appearances have included recitals and orchestral engagements in the East and Midwest.

Herbert Rogers studied at Juilliard with Sacha Gornitzky. Previously he worked with Paul van orchestras of Houston, Dallas, S. M. U., Wichita Falls and Juilliard, and won the famous Dealey Award in Dallas, the International Recording Prize of the National Guild of Piano Teachers, and other competitions. He has played in recital and with orchestra throughout the Southwest.

The official musical arranger for the Quartet is Moritz Bomhard, at present director of the Kentucky Opera Association in Louisville and of a successful TV opera series there. At present he is also in charge of the production of the contemporary operas commissioned and performed under terms of the recent large Ford Foundation Grant to the Louisville Orchestra. He was formerly conductor of the Princeton University Orchestra and Glee Club, and director of New Lyric Stages. In addition to his arrangements for the Quartet, Mr. Bomhard is a composer in his own right, having to his credit two symphonies, a suite for strings, several sonatas and the score to a Sean O'Casey play, "Red Roses for Me," which was given at the Houston Playhouse.

The Quartet travels by car, and their four Baldwin grand pianos precede them for each concert via private truck.

Wilkes-Barre Employment Studies Made

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP)—Business and labor leaders from 19 eastern Pennsylvania counties today discussed a flood of suggestions aimed at relieving the growing unemployment in the Keystone State's hard-pressed hard coal regions.

Leader Cabinet
The conference was attended by Gov. Leader and two of his cabinet members — Labor Secretary Torquato and Commerce Secretary Davlin. Leader and his aides listened—and, now and then, interjected the state's position on a particular matter under discussion.
For the most part the conference attended by more than 250 persons, touched on many subjects such as more extensive highway networks, state aid in factory construction, and a better state tax program attractive to industry.
Prior to the conference's start Leader signed into law a number of bills passed by the current state Legislature.
The bills were of special interest to northeastern Pennsylvania, some of them having a direct tieup with the anthracite industry.

Leader said that one of the bills he signed granted a pay increase to hard coal mine inspectors.
